NSN 6515-01-442-5487

Hypodermic Needle Protective Guard - Page 1 of 1

View Online at https://aerobasegroup.com/nsn/6515-01-442-5487

| Sterility:                                                                                               |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Nonsterile                                                                                               |
| Connector Type:                                                                                          |
| Threaded                                                                                                 |
| Disposition After Initial Use:                                                                           |
| Reusable                                                                                                 |
| Special Features:                                                                                        |
| Drop-it quick-release needle holder; for use with the bio-plexus punctur-guard blood collection needles. |
| Shelf Life:                                                                                              |
| N/a                                                                                                      |
| Unit Of Measure:                                                                                         |
|                                                                                                          |
| Demilitarization:                                                                                        |
| No                                                                                                       |
| Fiig:                                                                                                    |
| T117-a                                                                                                   |